What role do Project Managers play in the Construction & Built Environment Industry?

Construction Project Managers oversee projects from start to finish, balancing time, cost, and quality. They create plans, estimate costs, manage contracts, and ensure safety. Working at a fast pace, they track progress and fix problems, often using planning software. They work closely with their customers, cost manager and works supervisor to deliver a successful project. Find out more here:

- COMMUNICATION and ORGANISATION skills are a must, alongside critical thinking
- Having strong DIGITAL SKILLS is helpful to keep on top of costs, timelines and workforce
- Project Managers are great MULTI-TASKERS and LEADERS, prioritising tasks and dealing with different teams
